School Profile

About WCPS

Opened September 1997, Weil College Preparatory School (WCPS) is a co-educational, comprehensive high school preparing students for matriculation and success in colleges and universities. The school is a boarding school serving grades 7-12, and is located in the City of Ojai, California. The school meets all requirements for high schools set by the Department of Education of the State of California and provides a rigorous academic program which meets and exceeds the a-g requirements of University of California. The curriculum seeks to cultivate well-rounded, academically oriented, globally aware, knowledgeable, ethical and creative students.

Academic Framework

Students are supported by a well-educated Faculty and Administrative staff. There are 8 teaching faculty members with a majority holding post-graduate degrees. The school offers Honors and Advanced Placement options for courses. In the last year, class size averaged at 10 students. Students are regularly evaluated academically and special help is provided as needed.
